

HUGH BURRELL IS CAPTURED

Fugitive Banker Caught in Oklahoma
City by W. H. Watton on Thursday.

HE IS NOW IN JAIL IN THAT CITY

Detective After Him Three Years.
—Employed By Losers in Bank Wreck.

Hugh Burrell, the fugitive ex-banker of Brownstown, after evading arrest for three years, has finally been captured and is in jail at Oklahoma City awaiting the arrival of an Indiana officer with requisition papers from Governor Marshall.

The capture was made in Oklahoma city Thursday evening by W. H. Watton, a former Brownstown jeweler, who was employed on the case by the Bolles family who lost $40,000 in the wrecking of the bank. Word was received from him Thursday night that Burrell had been captured and later a message to the same effect was received from the chief of police of Oklahoma City. Since then several telegrams have been received from the men but the full particulars of the arrest have not been received.

News of the capture was not made public at Brownstown but arrangements were begun to secure the return of the fugitive. Attorney Applewhite was in Indianapolis yesterday and today was arranging for requisition papers. The promise was given at the Governor's office that they would be issued this morning upon the receipt of necessary papers in the case. It was expected that Mr. Applewhite or some one else would leave at 1 p. m. today for the west with the requisition.

Strenuous efforts are being made to prevent Burrell being taken out of Oklahoma; it is supposed that his son-in-law, Peter J. McNeerney, is directing the efforts. Habeas corpus proceedings have been instituted for Burrell's release on the grounds that he is of unsound mind and it is feared strong efforts will be made to influence Gov. Haskell to refuse Gov. Marshall's requisition. McNeerney, whose home is at Muskogee, is known to have considerable influence in political circles there.

Attorney McAdams, president of the Oklahoma State Bar Association, is looking after the case for the Brownstown people interested in securing Burrell's return.

Watton, who captured the ex-banker, has been traveling in the west for some time for a jewelry house. Recently he visited in Indianapolis and told of having seen Burrell and of knowing something of his whereabouts. Hearing of this he was employed by the Bolles family as a private detective. He began work on the case about three weeks ago and his success means he will receive a $1750 reward. This money was raised about a year ago, the contributors being people who were losers by the bank failure and others in Brownstown and vicinity.

When the news of the arrest was circulated this morning in Brownstown it caused a sensation. The public was not aware of the recent efforts made to apprehend him and it is only now that the people learn the extent of the efforts made during the past three years to get Burrell. Many believed that no very earnest effort had been made in this direction for those in charge of prosecuting the search found it necessary to maintain as much secrecy as possible in order that information might not reach Burrell through home channels.

The officers had no part in the principal work that was done and were not aware of much of it.

A committee of citizens of the Brownstown community directed and pushed the matter. W. H. Bolles and Charles Dollman being among the leaders. The bank closed in August 1907, and Burrell stayed about town for a short time afterwards and then left. Within ten days after his disappearance $500 was raised by private subscription and detectives were employed. Charles Bolles went to Chicago and secured Pinkerton men. The chief of the bureau there thought he would get Burrell within a month. Since then other private detectives and government secret service men have worked on the case and at the time of the capture a private detective agency had men engaged in the hunt.

Twice in the past Burrell was almost caught but managed to escape, and it is believed he received warning from some source.

He is thought to have spent most of his time in Oklahoma since leaving here.

Burrell was the president of the People's State Bank and in him was placed the highest confidence by the depositors and directors. The institution was in reality a one man bank, Burrell having almost absolute control over all the transactions made.

When the examiners found that the bank was insolvent, they closed the doors, but Burrell assured the depositors that the affairs would come out all right and that there would be no losses. While the people were shocked to hear that the bank, which was regarded as one of the strongest financial institutions in the county, had been closed, they believed what the president told them, and no effort was made to arrest him until two days afterward, when it was found that he had disappeared. His whereabouts were unknown for several months, when he was finally located in Muskogee with his son-in-law, Peter J. McNeerney.

O. S. Brooke, of Brownstown, was appointed receiver of the bank, and it was found that Burrell's shortage was over $172,000. The ex-president succeeded in covering up the loss by placing in bank notes to which he forged the names of prominent farmers in the county. His forgeries amounted to his shortage, $172,000. In two years Mr. Brooke settled up the affairs of the bank, paying the depositors eighty-five cents on the dollar, which was more than they expected to receive. The stockholders lost heavily.

It was found that Burrell had lost his money in bucket shops. Mr. Brooke succeeded in compromising with Sandy Thompson, of Indianapolis, for $5,000, but one of the brokers refused to return a penny of the money.

Burrell had on deposit in a Cincinnati bank $20,000. The cashier of that bank was an old friend and Burrell persuaded him to make a statement that the People's State Bank, of Brownstown, had $50,000 on deposit at the Cincinnati bank. This was done for the purpose of deceiving the Indiana bank examiners. When Receiver Brooke demanded $50,000 from the Cincinnati bank, the truth came out—there was only $20,040 on deposit and the cashier's statement was false. The cashier was dismissed in disgrace and soon after died.

TRAINS MET NEAR STORRS STATION

East Bound Passenger, No. 2, Runs
Headon Into Louisville Train
No. 19.

THE ORDERS NOT UNDERSTOOD

Conductors David Riley and Joseph
DeFrates and Engineer Frank
Evans In Collision.

Eastbound passenger train No. 2 on the B. & O. S-W. crashed head on into the west bound Louisville train, No. 19, late Thursday afternoon at Storrs Station, near Cincinnati. In the accident, which was caused by a misunderstanding of the orders by the crew on train No. 2, seven passengers were hurt, one of which was perhaps fatally injured.

The Louisville train was in charge of Conductor David Riley, and on the engine were Engineer Oelshlager and Fireman John James. The crew on this train, it is said, had orders to wait on the main track to allow the St. Louis train to pass them on the other track. When the accident occurred, the Louisville train was stationary, waiting for the arrival of the St. Louis train. The latter train, it is stated, had orders to take the other track at Storrs Station but through a misunderstanding in the reading of the order sheet did not do so. As soon as Engineer Oelshlager saw the east bound train approaching at a terrific speed on the main track, he blew a warning blast and with his fireman jumped from the cab.

The engine pulling the "Royal Blue" the St. Louis train was in charge of Engineer Frank Evans and Oscar Horstman was his fireman. When Evans heard the warning given by the engineer of the Louisville train, he applied the brakes, but on account of the momentum its speed was slackened but little. Both Evans and his fireman jumped from the engine and were not injured. The engines were badly wrecked and tossed from the tracks. The engine on train No. 2 was hurled around and in its course over the ground the rails were torn up for a considerable distance. The "Royal Blue" was in charge of Conductor Joseph DeFrates, a veteran railroad man, and well known in Seymour. He was not injured.

When the news of the wreck was first received in Seymour it was reported that there were several employees from this city injured, and many calls were made at the dispatchers' offices to learn the names of the injured men. The information which was received here just after the collision was meagre, and very few particulars could be obtained.

The B. & O. S-W. has experienced several serious wrecks during the past few weeks, although this was the most serious. The others have been the result of the bad engines or the cars becoming derailed. The local wrecking crew has been out of the city nearly every day this week.

The place where the wreck occurred has been the scene of many accidents. Ten days ago there was a collision, and Fireman James, who was in last night's collision, narrowly escaped

CITY COUNCIL MET IN SHORT SESSION

Petition Presented by Property Owners of First Ward Asked That Postlethwaite Mill Be Razed.

IS RENDEZVOUS FOR TRAMPS

Contract With Seymour Mutual Telephone Company For Fire Alarm System Finally Closed.

But little business was transacted at the regular meeting at the city council Thursday evening. All members were all present except W. R. Day and Samuel Hodapp who were out of the city.

The contractors, Niemeyer and Rockstroh, who are constructing the new building for Seymour Manufacturing Company, were given the privilege of using Broadway and Sixth streets for the purpose of placing materials and tools while the structure is being erected.

Upon motion of Councilman Davison, the street commissioner was ordered to place several tiles in position on the dumping ground east of the city.

The contract between the city and the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company was read as revised and the Mayor and clerk was ordered to sign same. The contract provided that the city shall pay the company $4.50 each month. The council desired that the company notify the superintendent of the Water Works Company at his residence when a fire was reported between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. The telephone company at first refused to embody this provision in the contract, but finally agreed to do so, as suggested by the council. It was thought necessary that the superintendent of the water company the water pressure as shown by a should be notified so he could record gauge in his home.

A petition was presented by a number of citizens and property owners near the old Postlethwaite Mill requesting the council to order the owners to tear the old building down as it was dangerous and a menace to residents in that part of the city. The city engineer who was instructed to inspect the building several weeks ago stated that he believed that it was safe, although its appearance was by no means commendable. George Huber and Fred Able, both signers of the petition were present and stated that the building was a rendezvous for tramps and persons of immoral characters. They also said that one portion of it was dangerous and unsafe and felt that the city should order that part razed for the protection of children who played about the old factory. Upon motion of Davison the matter was referred to the board of public safety.

Street Commissioner, Isaac Burrell reported that several of the streets had been repaired with cinders as ordered. He also stated that he had informed several property owners to repair their sidewalks according to the direction of the council.

The following claims were presented and allowed:

SHOOTING AFFAIR

Marion Steele Shoots Through Window at Charles Mitchell.

Marion Steele was in the police court this morning to answer to a charge of intoxication and was fined $5.00 and costs, which were paid. There has been considerable trouble at Steele's place recently and he was admonished after the fine was assessed that if there was any further trouble his place of business would be closed. With this positive assurance that the future of his business depended upon his good behavior, Steele became engaged in a quarrel this afternoon at his soft drink stand on Jeffersonville avenue and in the mixup shot at Charles Mitchell.

Mitchell says that he was inside when Steele started to fight another customer and that he told Steele that was not necessary, whereupon the latter turned his attention to Mitchell. Mitchell left the room but had not gone far when Steele shot at him through the window. The window shows where the bullet passed through the glass.

Steele place has had a reputation for disturbances for some time and only Wednesday some one, whose identity was not proven, shot at a fireman on the B. & O. S-W. as he was walking along the west side of the Pennsylvania platform. The bullet lodged in the depot.

Upon the window of Steele's place is the sign, "Beer, cider and soft drinks."

Entertained For Mother.

Mrs. Charles Ingram entertained the M. C. Sunday school class of the Baptist church and several friends at her home on west Second street, in honor of her mother, Mrs. E. W. Donaldson, who with her husband, leaves tomorrow to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Lula Harsh, of Kansas City. The afternoon was spent in a social way. An elegant luncheon was served after which several hymns were sung, which were favorites of Mrs. Donaldson's, and appropriate to her going away for a time. Mrs. Donaldson was presented with several gifts as tokens of remembrance from the class and her friends.

Mrs. Ingram was assisted by Mrs. J. L. Blair and Mrs. L. G. Heins.

HON. W. L. TAYLOR TO SPEAK IN SEYMOUR

Arrangements Made With Speakers' Bureau by Which He Will Be Here October 17.

WILL SPEAK AT THE MAJESTIC

Mr. Taylor is Regarded As One of the Greatest Orators in the Middle West.

County chairman W. P. Masters was in Indianapolis Thursday and held a conference with William E. Springer, chairman of the Republican Speakers' Bureau at which time it was definitely arranged that the Hon. W. L. Taylor, of Indianapolis, would speak in this city Monday evening, October 17. The big meeting will be held at the Majestic Theatre at 7:30 o'clock p. m. Mr. Taylor is one of the greatest speakers in the middle west, and as he has an engagement every day until the close of the campaign, Mr. Masters feels he has been very fortunate in securing him for an address at this time.

Mr. Taylor was formerly attorney general of Indiana, and has been in close touch with the political conditions of Indiana for many years. He is a close student of governmental affairs, and what he has to say regarding the political situation will be heard with great interest. While his speeches are full of good thoughts, he has the ability to keep his hearers in constant laughter, and his addresses are given the closest of attention.

The address of Mr. Taylor is being widely advertised and the opera house will be crowded Monday evening. Everyone is pleased that he is to come here during the campaign and is anxious to hear him.

SHOES

Our years of experience has taught us it pays to buy of old reliable manufacturers. People who have the capital necessary to build the immense buildings equip them with up-to-date machinery, buy leather in car load lots, yes train load lots and do every thing else on equally large scale, thus turning out good shoes in such quantities that a very small margin per pair makes them a fair profit on the investment. A business of this magnitude demands absolute integrity in the make-up of its out put. They can not afford to fraudulently cheapen their product. Such a firm is Rice & Hutchins, whose product we have handled for several years and we are constantly increasing our business with them. You are invited to inspect this line.

ROOSEVELT HAS COME AND GONE

Today The Colonel Is Stumping
New York State.

PUT IN DAY FOR BEVERIDGE

Passing Out of Indiana Late Last Night at Richmond, the Colonel Had Spent a Strenuous Day in Behalf of the Candidacy of Indiana's Senior Senator, Whooping Things Up All Along the Line in the Hoosier State.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 14.—From morning until night yesterday Roosevelt came stumping across Indiana, shouting to the Hoosiers that Beveridge must go back. This strenuous day of Rooseveltian activity gave the colonel a splendid chance to utter fighting words, and he hammered away at his theories of progressivism and lauded the tariff commission that he said Beveridge was instrumental in securing. He himself had the satisfaction of being praised by former Vice President Fairbanks. The climax of Beveridge day came at a monster meeting in Monument place in Indianapolis during the afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt told the crowd massed in front of the greatest war monument in the world, that it was a meeting of the like of which he had never seen in his thirty years in politics. He said that after seeing that crowd he was not nervous about Indiana. He declared that they are now going to win. He lauded Mr. Beveridge until Mr. Beveridge blushed. The colonel did not mince matters when it came to boosting Senator Beveridge. He characterized him as a man embodying the struggle for popular government and honesty in public life. He told the crowds that Beveridge did not split off from the rest of his party because he voted in accordance with the views of the bulk of the people, and he said "before the next presidential election comes around the platform of your party will be precisely the platform on which Senator Beveridge stands."

He announced that he had come into Indiana to speak for Beveridge because he believed so emphatically in the cause for which he stands. If Indiana defeats Beveridge Mr. Roosevelt said that they will not be able to explain to the American people on any other grounds than that Indiana declines to keep in office the public servant who refuses to ally himself with corrupt interests. Among the various things that Mr. Roosevelt counted which Senator Beveridge had a hand in was conservation. He did not say exactly what the senator did, but he discussed the problem. "What we have to fight is organized greed," said the colonel.

Then he went on to tell how far Beveridge fought not only for the railroad rate bill, but for the amendment that made it worth passing. He told of how Senator Beveridge is fighting to do away with over-capitalization and is working against the interests of swindlers. The colonel reviewed the career of Mr. Beveridge, whose twelve years in the senate he said had been years of real service, for they represented honesty, courage and good sound common sense. He referred to his part in the beef trust rout, the amendment that stopped the tobacco trust's robbery, and the child labor bill, of course. Mr. Roosevelt wound up the day with an earnest plea to the Hoosiers to support Beveridge and to support the ticket he is running on. On the platform with the colonel was Senator Beveridge and Mr. Fairbanks, who introduced the colonel. The former vice president really warmed. He paid high tribute to Mr. Roosevelt's work and achievements as president and remarked that he, Fairbanks, had given his whole support to President Roosevelt. "I take great pleasure in presenting to you that profound scholar, brave soldier, able executive, the mighty commoner of America, Mr. Theodore Roosevelt," said Mr. Fairbanks, by way of introduction. The colonel got an ovation when he arose to speak. The crowd was curious to see him as much as to hear what he had to say. He spoke for an hour and ten minutes. After the public meeting the colonel made another speech at the Columbia club. Then he drove back to the train. Last night he spoke at Anderson and Muncie and withdrew from Indiana following a short stay here. Today he is stumping the south tier of New York state in behalf of Mr. Stimson and the Republican ticket.

The TRIUMPH
Air Blast

Is the latest and greatest invention for producing heat from soft coal. Practically all fuel can be turned into heat and utilized in the room—no waste of gases, no waste of soot, no waste by having ashes banked against the fire pot. When we say we can save you one-third of your fuel bill is putting it mildly. The construction of the fire pot is so arranged that its radiation surface is double that of any other soft coal stove made. It is the only fire pot where it is absolutely impossible for ashes to bank against; the only fire pot where hot air has a complete circulation from top to bottom. The perfect fitting ash pit door, the ball bearing grate, the solid cast body are all features worth your while to consider in buying a stove. We will be glad to demonstrate the construction of the Triumph Air Blast and prove up what we say.

TAXATION WITHOUT RETURNS.

The taxpayers of Jackson county are opposed to the extravagance which has been practiced in the administration of county affairs. The Democrats cannot excuse their records of the past by saying that the taxes have been slightly reduced. The people believe that for the benefits they receive, the tax assessment could be greatly reduced and then the rate would be sufficiently high. The taxpayers want to receive the full benefit of every dollar paid in by them as taxes. When enormous sums are appropriated for gravel road improvements they would like to see the roads kept in good condition.

So far as the court house improvement is concerned, it is conceded that the building should be improved, but the large majority of the people of this county are opposed to such improvements as necessitated the heavy indebtedness which will be a burden to the taxpayers for years to come. And, under all probability, a further appropriation will be necessary as the sums which were allowed are now almost exhausted and the building is far from completion. In many instances the expenditures for changes and additions on public buildings is enormous, and doubtless the new court house in Jackson county will not prove an exception. In fact, changes amount to $3,500 were voted by the county commissioners, but as soon as they found that their action did not meet with public approval, they hastily rescinded the motion, and ordered that the building be erected according to the original plans. But soon the election will be over, and if the Democrats are successful in electing their candidates the officials will have nothing to fear and additional sums may be expended as they will.

There is a growing impression that if the unexpected should happen and the Democrats captured the legislature Kern would not be elected Senator. The persistent failure of Shively to indorse him on even mention his candidacy, the refusal of certain county conventions controlled by Kern's enemies to indorse his candidacy, coupled with the scramble of Kern adherents to force public pledges from legislative candidates seem to furnish evidence of a conspiracy being on foot.

Champ Clark of Missouri, is slated for the speakership if the Democrats control the lower house in the next congress. With him in the chair and supported by his southern colleagues what chance would the dollar a day or any other pension measure have?

The rooster really ought to give place to Taggart's picture as the emblem at the head of the Democratic State ticket. The ticket is his property and a vote for it means a vote for his domination in state affairs.

PAPER CHASE

Enjoyed By Junior Class of High School Last Night.

Last night the Junior class of the high school enjoyed a paper chase in which about thirty members took part. The leaders, Misses Ruth Baldwin and Ruth Leblin and Carl Cox and Walter Everhart left the library corner about 7:30 and fifteen minutes later the others started in pursuit scattering paper as they travelled, the leaders passed through the city to the north and after leaving town went through corn fields, over wire fences and marked out as difficult a course as possible. Their destination was the home of Miss Ruth Leblin at Rockford and they reached there about 9 o'clock a half hour in advance of the others. At Miss Leblin's the crowd enjoyed a social time and a musical program. Leland Hadley and Linton Brewer sang the latest songs and Misses Lora Reynolds and Luella Toms played a piano duet. Refreshments were served and the crowd returned to town about eleven o'clock.

New Home Sold.

E. C. Bollinger as agent has sold the new home recently built by R. M. Kindig on west Seventh street to Dr. F. A. Steele, District Superintendent of the M. E. Church for $3500.00. Dr. Steele's goods are already here and he will move into his new property just as soon as the house can be vacated. Dr. Steele will make this his home for the next six years, the time of his appointment. Dr. Hyde who had charge of the district for the past six years, made his home part of his term at Columbus and the last part at Indianapolis. As this is the head of the district and Dr. Steele was well impressed with Seymour, he decided to buy him a home here.

The Gold Mine Department Store

Annual Showing of Fall Styles

Every section of this store is now showing complete lines of Fall merchandise.

The correct things for Fall and Winter can now be decided upon definitely.

All stocks are now at their best. There is economy in buying at this store that in conjunction, operates five large stores, that knows the value of merchandise, that has stood the test for twenty-five years, without giving away chances on premiums to entice the purchaser in gambling.

This is no 'Flight in the middle of [night.]' Store, that is here today and some where else tomorrow, but expects to meet you for years to come.

Promises can easily be made and when you are gone no one to right them.

Premiums to sell merchandise with but one to win and hundreds to lose, only creates heartaches and headaches for the loser and gains very little for the winner.

At the age of modern merchandizing, when the public is able to conspire and combine their efforts, what chance has the ordinary innocent purchaser.

Our stock of Domestic, Woolens, Comforts and Blankets, Dress Goods and Silks, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Rugs, Linoleums, and Oilcloth, Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves, Ready-to-wear Garments, Coats, Skirts, and Waists, Tailored Suits and Sweater Coats, Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hats are all of The Gold Mine type, new and up-to-date and require no premium to the purchaser.

A visit in our store will convince you that our stock is modern in every respect and our merchandise is reliable.

Our store will be closed Wednesday evening at 6 p. m. and until Thursday evening 6 p. m. on account of holiday.

SOME PLAIN TALK

FROM THE COUNTRY STORE

have said that our Sugar is not the best and that our Lard is not pure and that our weights are not correct, etc.

I handle nothing but Arbuckle or Havermeyer and Elder's best Graulated Sugar, quality can't be beat, and price is still..... 5 1/2 c lb.

My Lard is absolutely pure, or Armour & Co., and The National Packing Co. are misbranding it, which would be a violation of our pure food laws. Our price is as low as it can be sold and still make a little profit. Buy all you want at..... 16c lb.

And as to our weights. I use nothing but the best scale made to weigh on and will give $1.00 for each instance where my weights are not correct. All I ask is bring back the package UNOPENED and give me the name of the clerk that waited on you. The Keach family have been in the merchandise business for over fifty years at Tampico, Jackson county, and today have customers that have traded with us for over one-half a century, which would be impossible had we done other than a strictly honest business. In fact, our motto has always been: Give Honest Weights, Make Honest Prices and Sell Honest Goods.

MISTAKES ON EXHIBITION

Many People Careless in the Mailing of Letters and Cards.

Observe the letters and cards posted in the cabinet on the wall in the postoffice lobby and you will get some idea of how careless many people are with their own mail. You will find letters and cards there that were dropped in the postoffice without stamps on them. Others may be without addresses, or so imperfectly addressed that they can not be dispatched. Cards that do not comply with the regulations of the postoffice department as to size and shape are frequently dropped in the office with a one cent stamp on them and such cards are posted in the lobby. Now and then some one writes all over the space left "for address only". A great many people do not seem to know that unless the regulations prescribed are complied with post cards are chargeable with postage at the letter rate. Observe the mistakes and acts of carelessness as exhibited in the case at the postoffice lobby and then be careful not to make the same mistake yourself.

Do You Get Up

With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water; and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Willing to Oblige.
On one occasion, when Robin Allison, who was beadle at Kilwinning, had carried some goods for a traveler visiting his customers, he was delighted with a dram over and above his pay.

"Deed, that's rare guid o' ye, noo," said Robin, "but maybe I'll be able to dae ye a guid turn yet. Ye ken I'm the gravedigger. Dae-dae ye like your head high?" London Standard.

SPEAKS FIVE TIMES.

Evangelise Brown Plans For a Big Day Sunday.

A full house listened to Evangelist Roy L. Brown last night at the Christian church revival and gave hearty approval to his sermon. He denounced sin and its pleasures and held up the beauties of the noble life. The people of Seymour who are missing these services will be the losers, for Mr. Brown can bring the smiles and tears so close together that they meet in presenting some great truth. Tonight's subject, "The First Gospel Sermon" and the evangelist will talk straight out about some modern methods of preaching and deal in no uncertain way with "milk and water" preachers.

Next Sunday will be decision day and Evangelist Brown will speak five times.

Mrs. E. M. Rogers Dead.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. E. M. Rogers at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John B. Malott, near Bedford. She was ninety-three years of age. She was the mother of S. G. Rogers, of Bowling Green, Ky., formerly of this city. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m. from the residence.

Misses Nora and Edith Flenniken and C. W. Milhous will attend the funeral services.

CATARRH

A SYSTEMIC BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is not merely an affection of the mucous membranes; it is a deep-seated blood disease in which the entire circulation and greater part of the system are involved. It is more commonly manifested in the head, nose and throat, because of the sensitive nature of these membranes, and also because they are more easily reached by irritating influences from the outside. The symptoms of Catarrh, such as a tight feeling in the head, nose stopped up, throat clogged and dry, hacking cough, etc., show that the tiny blood vessels of the mucous membranes are badly congested and inflamed from the impurities in the circulation. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be purified and the system cleansed of all unhealthy matter. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure by PURIFYING the blood. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is cleared, breathing becomes natural and easy, the throat is no longer clogged, and every unpleasant symptom of the disease disappears. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and for this reason is the most certain cure for Catarrh. Book on Catarrh and medical advice free to all who write.

JUST PUBLISHED

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

TRAINS MET NEAR

with his life. Last summer an engine blew up at the same spot and the engineer and fireman were killed.

Chief Clerk M. H. McCord, in the mail car, which was behind the engine of the St. Louis train, was knocked off his feet by the collision and bruised. His assistant clerks, C. W. Chandler, Carl Vermilya and Noble C. Clark, were also shaken up considerably, and Vermilya sustained a broken finger and scalp wounds. He refused to leave the car, however, and a physician dressed his wounds there.

Richard H. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior, occupied a Pullman drawing room on the westbound train, and while he was not injured in the least, he went into Cincinnati on the street car with the remainder of the wreck victims. When he arrived in the city he went for a few moments to one of the down-town hotels, where he cleaned up, and then went to the Grand Central Station, where he took the Chesapeake and Ohio train for Washington, leaving the city at 9:30 o'clock.

Train No. 2 left this city Thursday afternoon about forty-five minutes late. It arrived at Storrs Station about thirty minutes after its scheduled time.

Saved from the Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn. "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. It's the best medicine made for the throat and lungs." Obsolete coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, la grippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis and hemorrhages, hoarseness and whooping cough yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it. 50c and $1.00. JUST FOR DEVILMENT WOMEN ROB FARMERS

Auto Party's Operations On An Indiana Trip.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—A remarkable study from a psychological point of view of a woman's idea of amusement developed when Mrs. Ralph E. Hayden of 4933 Prairie avenue, wife of Dr. Ralph E. Hayden, a dentist with an office at 2901 Wallace street; her mother, Mrs. Mattie Jennings; a sister, Miss Laura Jennings, and Mrs. A. Cresner were taken into custody by detectives in connection with an alleged series of burglaries at the homes of farmers near Crown Point, Ind.

Mrs. Hayden, who was arrested on a fugitive warrant charging larceny, made a verbal confession, admitting that she and the other women committed the thefts for "devilment" while on an auto trip to Crown Point.

Between $50 and $75 worth of butter, eggs, apple-butter, linen, tableware and vegetables, said to have composed the property taken from the farmhouses, were found in Mrs. Hayden's private auto garage, according to the police.

AT THE CURVE

Another Fatal Traction Collision Recorded, This Time in Pennsylvania.

Olean, N. Y., Oct. 13.—A head-on collision between a westbound passenger car and a work car on the Salamanca line of the Western New York & Pennsylvania Traction company's road occurred last evening at a sharp curve just west of Allegheny. The passenger was completely telescoped. Passengers were thrown in a heap in the wreck.

William Schott, an Olean meat and milk dealer, was killed. Motorman Charles Cook lost his left arm at the shoulder, and his recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Myron Johnson of Allegheny was seriously cut and injured internally and her small son was seriously injured. David Brown of Little Valley had his skull fractured. About twenty others suffered injuries. It is said the failure of signals to work caused the accident.

Caught at the Crossing.

Meadville, Pa., Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Winton, prosperous farmers of near Centerville, were killed on the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at Tryonville. Their wagon was squarely on the track when it was struck and smashed to kindling, and the bodies of both occupants were decapitated.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 16, 1910

THE LAST JUDGMENT.—Lesson: Matt. 25: 31-46.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me. Matthew 25: 40.

This lesson is found also only in Matthew. It is called in the ordinary lesson title "The Last Judgment." If it had been added "preparing the kingdom" the title would have been correct. There are at least three judgments in the future. Dr. Scofield sees five, one for Israel only and one for angels. See his note on Rev. xx. 12. The three we refer to are the judgment for believers only at the judgment seat of Christ (Rom. xiv. 10; I Cor. v. 10), the judgment of the living nations of today's lesson and the judgment of the ungodly at the great white throne a thousand years later than the judgment of nations (Rev. xx. 5, 6, 11-15). The judgment of our sins took place on Golgotha when Jesus suffered for sins the just for the unjust, when He put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself, and He has assured us that for our sins we shall not come into judgment (I Pet. iii. 18; Heb. ix. 26; John v. 24, R. V.). See also Isa. xlii. 25. His redeemed ones, having received pounds and talents and having occupied a done business, witnessed for Him during this age, shall at the first resurrection, at the coming of Christ for His saints, somewhere in connection with the marriage of the Lamb, be rewarded for their service and have their places appointed in His kingdom. While this is taking place in the air or in heaven the great tribulation is on the earth, at the end of which, immediately after it, the Son of Man will come in power and glory (Matt. xxiv. 29-30), and this is the stage of His coming referred to in the first verse of today's lesson.

Unless we see ourselves as well as the holy angels coming with Him at this time we cannot understand this lesson. Take one of the simplest statements. "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with Him in glory" (Col. iii. 4). Put with it I Thess. ii. 13, and Zech. xiv. 5, then ask yourself as a believer the question, When He shall come in His glory where will I be—with Him on His throne or before Him as sheep or goats? Put Rev. iii. 21, with the texts already referred to, and how any simple minded believer can fail to see his place with Christ in this judgment I cannot understand. Let us then keep our place with Christ as we consider the sheep and goats. "Before Him shall be gathered all nations" (verse 2). Let the Spirit Himself tell us about it. What has He said elsewhere? "Behold, in those days and in that time when I bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, I will also gather all nations * * * and will plead with them there for my people and for my heritage Israel" (Joel iii. 1, 2). "For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle; * * * then shall the Lord go forth and fight against those nations" (Zech. xiv. 1-5). Could it in any way be made more plain that this judgment will be the time of mercy for Israel and judgment upon her enemies, according to Isa. xxxiv. 8; xxxv. 4; lxiii. 4? Concerning this very time He says in Ezek. xxxiv. 17, "Behold, I judge between lambs and kids, between the rams and the he goats." From many places in Scripture it is very plain that as this age draws to a close Israel will occupy the land long ago given to Abraham, reaching from Egypt to the Euphrates (Gen. xv. 18). They will be recognized as a nation, perhaps under the patronage of Turkey, which is even now offering them Mesopotamia (if reports be true), and for a time it will seem as if their troubles were over, but their friend will break his covenant with them, nations will gather against them, and in their extremity their Messiah will appear in glory for their deliverance and to set up His kingdom. The nations which have been friendly to Israel shall share her glory, but judgment shall fall upon her enemies, even as it is written in Isa. lx. 12, "The nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish." After this judgment of nations, at which time the evil trinity, having done their worst against the people of God, shall be disposed of, the beast and false prophet being cast into the lake of fire forever and the devil shut up in the pit for a thousand years, then shall a king reign in righteousness, and the work of righteousness shall be peace, and the service of righteousness quietness and assurance forever.

There are principles here, however, upon which God always acts in every judgment. That which is done to His people at any time He counts as done to Himself, whether it be good or ill. "He that toucheth you toucheth the apple of His eye." "Why persecutest thou me?" "A cup of cold water shall in no wise lose its reward" (Zech. ii. 8; Acts ix. 4; Matt. x. 40-42). As we read of those who ministered to Him when He was on earth, some think how gladly they would have done this, forgetting that it is our privilege at all times to minister to Him in the person of His people. The poor we have with us always, and whenever we will we may do them good. He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord.

Notice as to the future it will either be the kingdom or everlasting fire, eternal life or everlasting punishment (verses 34, 41, 46). The everlasting is as long in the one case as in the other.

ROOSEVELT FOR
SEN. BEVERIDGEEx-President Tells Why Senator Should Be Returned.

UPHOLDS HIS PUBLIC RECORD

In Great Speech at Indianapolis Theodore Roosevelt Says He Is Not Nervous About Indiana Now—"You Are Going to Win," Says He to the Republicans; "You Are Going to Do the Trick, And Do It Well."

In introducing Theodore Roosevelt to the great crowd which assembled at Indianapolis Thursday afternoon to honor the former president, Former Vice-President Charles Warren Fairbanks said: "For nearly eight years I was associated with him in the public service, and from first to last he had my full support—without equivocation or turning aside; I neither withheld my assistance nor gave it grudgingly."

"The head of the nation is always entitled to the support of good men if he is honest-minded, truehearted and patriotic; these qualities we all associate in the fullest degree with our distinguished friend. It is with a sense of honor and personal pleasure I present to you the profound scholar, the brave soldier, the able executive—our great commoner, Mr. Theodore Roosevelt."

After his introduction Col. Roosevelt waited until the noise of the demonstration which followed his rising to his feet had ceased, and then began to speak. He said:

"Mr. Chairman and you men and women of Indiana! My fellow Americans—it is a great pleasure to be heard today and to address a meeting the like of which in thirty years' experience in politics I have never before seen. (Great applause.)"

I am not nervous about Indiana—now. (Laughter and applause.) You are going to win. You are going to do the trick, and do it well. And naturally it was a very real pleasure to me to be introduced by the man who served with me in Washington, he as vice president and I as president, and no man could have wished a more loyal colleague than he was to me. (Great applause.)"

And now, my friends, I have in reality come here to appeal to you on the basis of good citizenship. We can afford to differ as to ordinary political problems, but there are certain questions so vital to the welfare of the whole country that as regards them we ought to be able to command the united support of all good and far-sighted citizens. Here in this audience, as in every Indiana audience, I see men who wear the button that shows that in the times that tried men's souls they fought for their country."

Pays Soldier Tribute.

Now you men who saw the thing through from '61 to '65 and made all your fellow citizens and all Americans of other generations, yet unborn, forever your debtors, you men whose great deeds are commemorated in that [pointing to the soldiers' and sailors' monument] the most magnificent monument throughout the world. (Great applause.) You know that what was primarily needed in the armies that fought to a finish the great civil war was that the average soldier, the man in the ranks, have certain ordinary qualities developed to more than an ordinary degree; you needed genius, leadership at the head; you needed good organization, good generals, but what was needed most of all was that the ordinary man in the ranks should have the fighting edge; that he should have the right stuff in him, because if he didn't you couldn't get it out of him because it was not there to get out. You wanted to have him a game man; you wanted to have him efficient, a good soldier."

Friends, the qualities that made a good soldier then are the qualities that make a good citizen now. In the first place, honesty in its broadest and widest application; honesty, devotion to the public weal and understanding of the relative importance of things, is necessary, is essential in your public servant. Honesty is just as indispensable to good citizenship as patriotism is to the soldier. It is not enough in the citizen, any more than it was enough in the soldier. The timid honest man is not worth much. I do not want to see the timid honest men all timid in any community while the trickster is dead game."

Speaks For Beveridge.

I am here today to speak in Indiana for the ticket headed by Albert Beveridge for senator, because during his twelve years' service in the United States senate, a service I have watched closely, he has shown that he possessed honesty, courage and good sound common sense. Now, my friends, I am going to give you two or three concrete examples, to just show what I mean."

At different times the fight for good citizenship passes through different phases, but in its essence it is always fundamental and safe. At present our chief fight is waged against the forces of greed. We are fighting the banded might of special privilege. We are fighting primarily those great forces—and they are very great, very formidable, of, very dangerous—which demand some special consideration, some special privilege more than is given to the ordinary man."

Against Dishonest Man.

We are against the dishonest man of great wealth. We are against the dishonest corporation. We wish to secure honesty and fair dealing in the business world. Now, my friends, let no man say that because of that attitude we are against business, against property. You might just as well say that we are against the honest politician when we try to drive the crook out of political life as to say that we are against honest business when we try to put a stop to dishonest business."

Just as the best friend of the honest man in public life is he who is against the dishonest man in public life, so the best friend of the honest man of means, the honest man of wealth, is the man who seeks to drive out of power those vast interests which make and keep their power because of the powerful combination between crooked business and crooked politics. I want to drive out of politics the business man who wishes to make money out of politics. That is not against the honest business man. An honest business man has nothing to ask from the servants of the people except fair treatment, and that he shall have. It is the man who ought not have anything who asks too much from the public servants of the people."

Control Over Vast Wealth.

Our effort is to exercise the kind of control over the vast wealth usually used in a corporate capacity, which we now see in modern business—to exercise sufficient control over it to insure its being used for and not against the popular interests. A few years ago we found out that the beef trust was canning and selling meats under a condition which made the traffic dangerous to the health of all our people. Accordingly, the federal government interfered. When we did, gentlemen—I was puzzled at the time—I was deluged by complaints that I was interfering with American industries; that I was the enemy of the business world; that I was dragging down America's good name and unsettling conditions in the stock market. We went ahead, and we put it through, and the other day one of the greatest of the beef men admitted that the government supervision had, in the end, done him great good instead of harm."

Now, we put that through; we put the legislation through in the interests of the people. We put it through against the bitter opposition of the men in congress who represented the speculators, and the fight in congress was under the leadership of Senator Beveridge. (Applause.)"

He drew the law and he fought that law through. Immediately you see the three qualities I spoke of as necessary to the public man. If he had not been an honest man you would have found him on the other side of the law. If he had been a timid man he would have fought for it if the law were introduced, but he could not have introduced it. And if he had not had the right kind of sense, the right kind of judgment, he would have gotten hold of some law that could not be put through."

But he at once seized upon the needs of the case. He drew the right kind of law and then he fought for that till he got it through. Well, we started out and then we took up the general question of the inspection of food and we put through the pure food law. We could not have got that pure food bill through if it had not been that the fight against the beef trust, in which Senator Beveridge led, awakened the public conscience and the public interests so that we could make our point with them."

I fought for a good many things while I was president, and I found that in nine cases out of ten I had to get them not by appealing to the men who were especially the leaders in congress, but by appealing to the people behind them. The leaders were not very sensitive to my appeal, and they developed an enormous amount of consciousness when the people awakened. To Senator Beveridge it was not necessary to appeal in that way. Senator Beveridge trusted entirely to the people themselves for his support."

There was not an interest that had any concern in putting him in the senate. He trusted to the people and tried to do what they desired and what they needed, and, therefore, instead of having to try to wake him up by an appeal to the people behind him, I found that I could always simply consult him as to how we could wake up somebody else. He has gone on in the same way since I left. It was his amendment which took away from and put a stop to the robbery of the government by the tobacco trust. And what he tried to do in connection with the tariff was done along just the same lines."

Takes Up the Tariff.

As I said in my address at the recent New York state convention—it was quite a convention and we carried it (applause)—as I said in my address to that convention, we have now inaugurated the policy of having a special commission of tariff experts who shall examine into each schedule of the tariff, shall find out what the facts really are and shall recommend, as the result of their original investigation, a sufficient measure of duty to equalize the cost of production here and abroad, which means especially the labor cost. Three years ago Senator Beveridge introduced a bill for just that type of commission. Now, I think the people of this country heartily approve of such measure of protection as will equalize the cost of production at home and abroad, and especially with the view of having the wage worker protected against the improper competition of laborers who do not have the standard of living which we demand for our American workingman. I think that is all right, and I think that any business is entitled to that measure of protection."

But human nature is fallible, and I do not want to trust entirely to what a man himself says he needs. And the trouble with the system under which our tariffs have now for many years been made is that they give too wide an opening to greed, just as it is with these other things, and we have allowed the favored man to get the protection which his greed demanded, and not which his need demanded. And the commission—the tariff commission—will deal with the tariff, not on the basis of what the protected interest demands in order to satisfy its greed, but on the basis of what the protected interest needs only in order that it may exist and give proper wages to its employees and secure a reasonable profit for the man on top."

Under the proposed tariff commission, when the scheme is finally perfected, we shall have a body of experts with ample power, who shall take up each schedule on its merits, and then leave it to congress to deal with that schedule by itself. That tariff commission is to consist of entirely impartial men representing both parties, and, therefore, it offers the only reasonable way ever offered of taking the tariff out of politics and treating it on its merits as a business proposition in the interests of the whole people."

Beveridge and Child Labor.

Yet again there has been no more hideous manifestation of greed than in the greed of exploitation of child labor. It is difficult to speak with self-control, to speak with moderation, of the man who coins the lives of children into money. Nothing more infamous can be imagined than the conduct of those people who make their fortunes at the cost of stunting and ruining the boyhood and girlhood of the country. To do away with the abuses of child labor means to accomplish one of the greatest reforms in this country, and Senator Beveridge has taken the lead among the people of the nation who are engaged in pushing forward that reform. (Applause.)"

He has fought for legislation by the state to prevent it, and he has fought for legislation by the national government which shall prevent it wherever it is not dealt with by the states themselves."

Well, gentlemen, I could go on indefinitely. I could speak of the railway rate bill. Senator Beveridge fought not only for the bill, but he fought for the amendment that made it worth passing. (Great applause.) Senator Beveridge is fighting to do away with overcapitalization, to have the government exercise such control over the issuance of stock and bonds that when issued they shall represent something else in addition to water. I could go on a long time in telling you, in giving you specific examples of what I mean by the application of honesty and common sense to our political life, and why I think, in this contest, Senator Beveridge embodies and represents the principles for which we are fighting."

He was in the senate through my term of service. I found that he was always eagerly desirous of finding out what the popular need was—what the need of the people really was—and he was then ready to fight to a finish to see that that popular need was met by the proper legislation. However good our private citizenship is, things cannot be satisfactory unless we have in public life the quality of service which properly corresponds to our fine average of private citizenship. It is a shame and a disgrace to any people if their chosen representatives do not stand on a high plane of honor and efficiency. You can read in the Bible that woe shall come to that people whose sovereign is foolish. Well, now, we are the sovereigns. You here, you and I. We are the sovereigns. And if we are foolish we have got ourselves to blame for the trouble that will come."

Urges Support of Ticket.

Now, your first duty is to drive the crook from public life, but you have only half done your work then. It is equally necessary to teach the honest man to keep the trained public servant of high character in public life, and I ask you, my fellow-citizens here today, I ask you to remember that it is your duty to yourselves to see that your representatives understand that not only will you punish them if they do that which they ought not to do, but you will uphold them if they do that which they ought to do."

And, therefore, I ask for the support of the public of Indiana. Without regard to party, I ask for the support of all good and far-seeing citizens for Senator Beveridge, for he cannot be made senator unless you elect the right stripe of legislature, because he and those who are supporting him have stood for what was best and highest in our national life. It behooves us to see that honesty and truth and courage become the rule in private life and in public life alike, and I ask you to stand with us now, not in the pame merely of a party."

I ask you to do it because the men for whom I ask it have shown by their deeds that they realize the great truth that he serves his party best who makes that party serve the whole people. Support these men, show that the people approve of the principles for which they stand, and that the American people recognize the great eternal fact that it is righteousness that exalteth a nation. (Applause.)"

WILL LET WORLD
KNOW THE FACTSNo Secret Made of the Raising
Of The Maine.

TO SETTLE IT FOR ALL TIME

Colonel Bixby's Plan For Raising Battleship in Havana Harbor Is by the Coffey Dam Method, and Spain and Cuba Are Invited to Have Representatives Present When Mystery of the Deep Is Revealed.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 14.—President Taft intends to settle for all time if possible the question as to the cause of the destruction of the battleship in Havana harbor twelve years ago. This is to be accomplished by the raising of the Maine by the Coffey dam method. The plan as adopted by the board of army engineers appointed to consider the removal of the wreck has been submitted to the president by Colonel W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers, U. S. A., and was endorsed by Mr. Taft. Colonel Bixby expects to have the wreck uncovered and free for inspection by Feb. 15 next, the thirtieth anniversary of the destruction of the vessel."

The impartial spirit in which the work of determining the character of the explosion is to be undertaken is indicated by the fact that Spain has asked, at the direction of the president, to have a representative present during the entire process of work. The same courtesy has been extended to Cuba, and it is practically certain that both governments will accept. President Taft considers the settlement of the question of the explosion as of supreme importance in the raising of the wreck, and has directed that everything else be subordinated to it."

The president obviously intends that this government shall once and for all free itself of the charge that it has feared to have the Maine raised because of the possible adverse showing on the finding of the old court of inquiry. This court, appointed soon after the destruction of the ship, gave as their opinion, after examining the wreck with the aid of divers, that it had gone down as the result of an external explosion. Spain also had the wreck examined, and its representatives declared emphatically that the Maine had met its end through an internal explosion. Since then Spaniards and some Cubans have not hesitated to charge that the inaction of the United States in regard to the wreck was due to a fear of the results. Even among some United States army and navy men there has been a disposition unofficially to question the accuracy of the findings of the old court of inquiry, which based its decisions on external explosion chiefly on the fact that one of the keel plates was driven through the upper deck."

CUSTOMS FRAUD

Is Alleged Against Firm of Art Dealers in New York.

New York, Oct. 14.—The art gallery of Duveen Bros., art dealers, of 302 Fifth avenue, was seized by Edwin R. Norwood, acting deputy surveyor of the port, who arrested Benjamin J. Duveen and seized the firm's papers, office books and art objects, on a warrant charging conspiracy to defraud the United States of customs duties."

The warrant did not state the exact amount of money involved in the alleged fraudulent importations, but the federal authorities said that papers seized in Duveen Bros.' office indicate that evasions of the customs duties on objects imported for the firm itself and for their clients were carried on systematically for many years previous to the tariff schedule of two years ago, admitting pictures more than twenty years old into the country free of duty. It is also said by the authorities that the undervaluations will total more than $1,000,000. Duveen was later released on $15,000 bail."

Charged With Fraud.

Boston, Oct. 14.—Federal officers raided the offices of the Redeemable Investment company, seized the books, papers and all the cash in sight and arrested Charles H. Brooks, manager and a director of the company, upon a warrant which charges the company with using the mails to defraud."

"CANNONBALL" WRECKED

Serious Accident Befalls 'Frisco Train on Bridge in Oklahoma.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—'Frisco train known as the Cannonball was wrecked between Tahmina and Compton, Okla., on a bridge seventy-five feet long. Forty-two passengers were more or less seriously injured, according to a report received at the office of the 'Frisco's manager here. The injured were taken to Fort Smith by a train which arrived at the scene of the accident soon after the wreck. According to messages the wreck was caused by the tender jumping the track, which caused a derailment of the chair car, which crashed through the ties."

Thomas H. Watkins, coal operator of Soranton, Pa., has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $1,275,549 and nominal assets $618,333, all of which except $1,494 are pledged."

WORTH
MOUNTAINS
OF GOLDDuring Change of Life,
says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R. F. D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women."
